

IN ADDITION TO LEGISLATION TO PROSECUTE
TRAFFICKERS, THE CANADIAN COUNCIL FOR REFUGEES (CCR) CALLS FOR LEGISLATION TO

PROTECT VICTIMS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Victims of human trafficking, most of whom are women and children, are often criminalized, detained, and deported. Given this retraumatization, most are unable to restore their lives. They fall back into the web of the traffickers.

Without a legislative mechanism to protect victims, people who are trafficked can not access basic survival services. Nor can they count on other support such as translation/ interpretation, counseling, or legal advice which may make them aware of available alternatives.

Although there is widespread anecdotal evidence of the presence of trafficked persons in Canada, immigrant and refugee serving organizations who wish to be responsive to trafficked persons are telling us that it is very difficult when no alternatives other than deportation are offered to trafficked persons.

I support the CCR call for legislation to protect victims of trafficking:

(signature)

(print name, address and postal code)

no
postage
required

MINISTER OF CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION
HOUSE OF COMMONS
OTTAWA, ONTARIO
K1A 0A6

IN ADDITION TO LEGISLATION TO PROSECUTE
TRAFFICKERS, THE CANADIAN COUNCIL FOR REFUGEES (CCR) CALLS FOR LEGISLATION TO

PROTECT VICTIMS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Victims of human trafficking, most of whom are women and children, are often criminalized, detained, and deported. Given this retraumatization, most are unable to restore their lives. They fall back into the web of the traffickers.

Without a legislative mechanism to protect victims, people who are trafficked can not access basic survival services. Nor can they count on other support such as translation/ interpretation, counseling, or legal advice which may make them aware of available alternatives.

Although there is widespread anecdotal evidence of the presence of trafficked persons in Canada, immigrant and refugee-serving organizations who wish to be responsive to trafficked persons are telling us that it is very difficult when no alternatives other than deportation are offered to trafficked persons.

I support the CCR call for legislation to protect victims of trafficking:

(signature)

(print name, address and postal code)

Bring
human trafficking out of the shadows

Bring
human trafficking
out of the shadows